Statement of Participation

iversity hereby certifies that zain khan has participated in the following course:

Prototyping Interaction

Taught from April 2015 to June 2015 by Frank Kloos, Maaike van Cruchten, and Micky van Zeijl.

The course in Prototyping Interaction allows students to thoroughly understand the concept and application areas of prototyping and get to know and apply methods to develop, test and incorporate prototyping interaction in their design process.

About Amsterdam University of Applied Sciences
Communication and Multimedia Design Amsterdam puts design at the core of its program. It sets out to help students learn how to think and act like designers, and aims to give its interactive media design graduates the best possible preparation for today's — and tomorrow's — professional practice. CMD is part of AUAS.

iversity

Amsterdam University of Applied Sciences